

CAMBRIDGE CLIMATE THERAPISTS

WHAT NOW? WHAT NEXT? A SMALL GROUP FOR THINKING ABOUT OUR FUTURE.

As the pandemic continues to impact on our lives in so many ways, the climate emergency is presenting us with an alarming picture of the road ahead.

Some of us might absorb ourselves in activism regardless or others retreat into despair or denial. But wherever we find ourselves the old adage still stands, talking with others helps.

Cambridge Climate Therapists are planning a group to be held weekly over a period of 9 weeks where people can share their concerns, hopes and fears.

It will be facilitated by two experienced therapists. We aim to start the group early in the new year.
